A third-round draft choice of the Eagles in 2013, Bennie Logan has been a dependable force and productive member of the Eagles defensive line from the nose tackle position. BIRDSEED

- Credits his grandmother, Ella Faye Bonner, and his cousin, Harry Gary, as the two biggest influences in his life. "My grandmother is my hero because when my mother passed away, she took me in and raised me from junior high to high school and even helped me through college," said Logan. "My cousin, Harry, pushed me to work hard and motivated me and stayed on me. He paid for me to go to LSU's camp and that's when I really came onto the scene. Without him helping me by paying for me to go to the camp and by pushing me to work hard, I wouldn't be in the place that I am."
- If Logan could trade places with one person for one day, he would like to experience what it is like to be homeless. "I come from a background that wasn't the best and it would be interesting to see how it is to live without a house and to have to look for food every day. It would make you more appreciative and would make you stop taking things for granted."
- Believes that if he wasn't playing football, he would be in the law enforcement field, either as an FBI agent or a U.S. Marshal. "Growing up as a little kid, I always wanted to be a firefighter or a police officer," Logan stated. "As I got older, I learned more about the expert fields of law enforcement. I started watching more shows about the U.S. Marshals and the FBI and saw all the things that they do. It made me want to travel all over the world and hunt for fugitives like they do."
- Named the "Game of the Century," a 2011 match-up between unbeaten LSU and Alabama as his favorite college game. It was the first time two undefeated SEC teams met as the #1 and #2 ranked teams in the country. LSU won a defensive struggle, 9-6
