

HOWIE ROSEMAN

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

Howie Roseman, the team's executive vice president of football operations, is in his 18th season in Philadelphia. Roseman previously served as the team's general manager from 2010-14.

In his role, Roseman oversees the team's football operations department, which includes scouting, analytics, contract negotiations, salary cap management, equipment and training staffs, sports science and team security.

Under Roseman's direction in the 2016 offseason, the Eagles negotiated the contract extensions of several core players to multi-year contracts, including Brent Celek, Fletcher Cox, Vinny Curry, Zach Ertz, Malcolm Jenkins and Lane Johnson. A few months earlier, Roseman assisted Chairman and CEO Jeffrey Lurie in the team's search for a new head coach, which resulted in the hiring of Kansas City Chiefs offensive coordinator Doug Pederson.

In the weeks leading up to the 2016 NFL Draft, Roseman initiated two separate trades that moved the Eagles from 13th to 2nd where they selected North Dakota State QB Carson Wentz. With eight days prior to the start of the 2016 regular season, Roseman executed another trade that sent QB Sam Bradford to the Minnesota Vikings in exchange for a 2017 first-round pick and a 2018 fourth-round pick.

Roseman bolstered the Eagles scouting department in 2016 with the hiring of Joe Douglas as vice president of player personnel and Andy Weidl as the club's assistant director of player personnel. Douglas and Weidl are both products of the scouting tree of renowned Ravens general manager Ozzie Newsome.

When Roseman was hired as general manager in 2010 at the age of 34, he was the youngest NFL executive to be named to the post in 30 years.

In his first year as general manager, Roseman oversaw a major overhaul of the roster, making it one of the youngest in the NFL. The revamped Eagles squad earned an NFC East division crown in 2010 and then captured another one in 2013. In 2014, the Eagles had an NFC-high nine Pro Bowl players.

Since hiring Roseman in 2000, the Eagles have earned 10 playoff berths, seven division titles, five NFC Championship appearances, one NFC Championship crown and a trip to Super Bowl XXXIX.

Roseman's tenacity, creativity and ability to develop and nurture positive relationships in every aspect of his job has played a significant role in his ascent within the Eagles organization.

After relentlessly pursuing jobs in NFL front offices, Roseman finally got his foot in the door as an intern with the Eagles when the team was headquartered at Veterans Stadium.

Roseman was elevated to director of football administration in 2003 and then to vice president of football administration in 2006. In that role, he worked in the personnel department evaluating players around the NFL and for the draft. He also represented the team to the NFL on contract, salary cap and player personnel matters.

In 2007, Roseman was invited to participate in the NFL-Stanford Program for managers at the Stanford Graduate School of Business, a program developed by the NFL to promote development of leaders within the league.

From 2008-09, Roseman served as the team's vice president of player personnel. In that role, he managed the college scouting staff, organized and ran draft meetings, and scouted the top college prospects around the country.

Roseman is also active in the Philadelphia-area community, contributing to a variety of initiatives involving military and children. He was named Honorary Commander for the Joint Base McGuire-Dix-Lakehurst for his continued efforts with the military. His charitable endeavors have benefited the Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation, the Boys & Girls Clubs of America, USA Football, Pop Warner and Cop Wheels. He is also a member of the Governing Body of the Global Sports Management Summit and YPO.

Born in Brooklyn, NY, Roseman earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Florida before earning a JD degree from Fordham Law School. Howie and his wife, Mindy, reside in suburban Philadelphia with their four children.
