

ALEC HALABY

VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS /

11TH YEAR IN NFL • 11TH IN PHILADELPHIA COLLEGE: HARVARD

Alec Halaby was named the Eagles' vice president of football operations and strategy on May 11, 2016, after serving as the team's special assistant to the general manager from 2012-15.

He has focused on player evaluation, roster management and resource allocation, with a particular emphasis on integrating traditional and analytical methods in football decision-making.

Halaby began his career as an intern with the Eagles football operations department in 2007 and 2009. In 2010, he was promoted to the position of player personnel analyst.

A native of Madison, WI, Halaby graduated from Harvard in 2009.

HALABY'S CAREER TIMELINE

2007, 2009	Philadelphia Eagles	Football Operations Intern
2010-11	Philadelphia Eagles	Player Personnel Analyst
2012-15	Philadelphia Eagles	Special Assistant to the General Manager
2016-	Philadelphia Eagles	Vice President of Football Operations and Strategy